New York Republican Platform. 3. We adhere firmly to the American policy under whose operation unexampled prosperity and thrift have blessed the land, and hold that any changes to be made in the tarifflaws should be made by the friends of those laws. and in the interest of protection of labor on our own soil and of home markets, not by or in the interest of free trade propagandists not for the benefit of foreign producers and foreign labor. National taxatten should be so adjusted as to raise revenue sufficient for an economic and wise administration of the government, for the payment of the public debts for the development of national resources, and for national defense; but any reduction should be so made as not to impair the pros perity of home industries. American markets must be preserved to the products of American labor and capital, and protected from foreign Particularly for the President.

Every one understands that New York is the money center of the country. In fact it bears the same relation to the body politic that the heart does to the human body so far as money is concerned. When the blood ceases to flow from the heart through its natural channels, the veins and arteries, the body becomes sick, sometimes even unto death. So when the money of the country ceases to flow from the great money center, New York, through the proper veins and arteries, the banks of the city, the body politic becomes sick.

The NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, like a skilled physician, diagnosed the condition of the country some months ago and stated that there was danger of a cessation of the flow of money because of its accumulation is the United States treasury. The events of the past few months have conclusively proven how true was the judgment, which declared that there was danger of a floanelal panic. It is now an accepted fact that there is great stringency in the money marhet-that there is not enough money to transact the business of the country.

The New York Sun has interviewed a large number of the leading business men of New York city and printed their opiniens upon the subject.

The Sun says: "It has been accepted from the foundation of the government that the the United States treasury have been de pendent upon each other and too closely identified to bear long tampering with. * * The merchants say that while Wall street men have had money sufficient for their requirements they have suffered from a strin gency not equaled in many years. * * While Wall street men have not been injured, merchants, manufacturing corporations, and all mercantile industries have suffered from the lack of money."

From what the business men say we extract the following:
Mr. John Claffin, head of the house of

H. B. Claffin & Co., said: "To get permanent relief, however, I am of the opinion that the government debt will have to be refunded at a lower rate of interest," Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss, of Bliss, Fabyan & Co., dry goods merchants, said: "I don't believe in any reduction of the tariff, for in my opinion any reduction would increase revenue rather than reduce it, for th reason that there would immediately be an enormous increase in all importations." Mr. Jay Gould said: "Of course, the condition of the money market rests largely with the government. It might, if so dis posed, make money tight, but I think that the purchase likely to be made will preven any such condition."

Mr. F. B. Thurber, of Thurber, Whyland

& Co., said: "This situation is taken ad vantage of by private money lenders to squeeze borrowers, and in this they have been greatly aided by our Treasury Depart ment. A large portion of the treasury sur plus should at once be put in circulation. Mr. W. H. Male, president of the New Atlantic Trust Company, said: "The lock ing up of money in the treasury, of course agg ravates the stringency."

The Hon. William R. Grace, ex-mayor, of W. R. Grace & Co., said: "There cer tainly is at the present time a lack o money for legitimate business purposes. This is evidenced on all hands by the atringency in the money market and the prevailing high rate of interest."

Mr. Lewis M. Hornthal, of Hornthal Whitehead, Weissman & Co., the clothiers said: "Money is fearful tight. It ha never been so scarce among the merchants as at the present time. The banks are drawing in their lines of loans in order that they can supply those who never be fore have asked accommodation. The banks are also refusing to buy commercial paper. Uncle Sam could help us by buy-ing bonds, but I am afraid it is, as a friend remarked the other day, that we have only a child in the Treasury Department, and

They are restricting their business-at least, those in my line are—because they dislike to put out paper, and they take an unfavorable view of the future of the money market. Another way, not exactly legalized, but more the government to lend money on any issue of Secretary Fairchild, and a report that he would be in Wall street to day to confer with the brokers excited the liveliest interest. Both Col-lector Magone and Assistant Treasurer Canda expected the Secretary, but he did not make his appearance, and Wall street was disap-pointed. The bankers say that it is not alone the stock speculators who are suffering from tight money. The dry goods and other mer-chants, it is declared, complain the most. It is underliable that the apprehensions of a money panie are real and widespread. The

It Is Hardly Possible.

Congressman and Banker S. V. White said: "There is a great scarcity of money It is with sincere regret that the No TIONAL REPUBLICAN sees chronicled in the and, strange as it may seem, Wall street, news of the day the statement that Mrs. while it has discounted this stringency in Cleveland deliberately put a slight upon Gov. The explanation of that fact

Mrs. Cleveland was not at the celebration of the hundreth anniversary of the adopfunds to lend. A merchant cannot do tion of the constitution as Mrs. Grove Cleveland, but she was there as the first which should have legitimately gone to merchants has been withheld and givea lady of the land-the wife of the President of the United States—a position in which she has heretofore borne herself in a manner to attract the plaudits of every person he government receiving $1,000,000 a day n the nation.

It cannot be possible that Mrs. Cleveland and paying out $400,000 to $500,000 the usiness men of the country fear that there has forgotten that she is not merely the wife of Grover Cleveland. She remem-bered very well, when she answered the may be a lack of money. The merchants are bandling more goods than usual at this letter from New York asking her to deliver the flags presented to the old firemen of Co., said: "There is not the slightest doubt that city, that she was the wife of the Presiabout there being a lack of money for merdent and as such could not do any act incantile pursuits. Wall street brokers have not suffered. They can get money when consistent with the dignity of his high position.

So, if she endeavored to put an indignity upon the governor of Ohio, Mrs. Cleveland was acting as the wife of the President and presumably with his concurrence. For that reason, with others, we cannot believe but that there is some mistake in the published statements of what occurred at the reception in Philadelphia,

To try and slight Gov. Foraker on that occasion was to put an indignity upon the state of Ohio. He and his wife were there as the representatives of Ohio, as President Cleveland and his wife were there as the representatives of the United States. To slight these representatives would be to slight the state, with all that it has given to the nation. > THE PUBLIC LANDS. Sales, Entries, and Selections During the Past Year.

Land Commissioner Sparks has prepared a statement of the disposition of public and ndian lands during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887, which will be incorporated in his annual report. From this statement it appears that the sales, entries, and selections of public land under the various acts of Congress em'raced 25 111,400 acres and of Congress em'raced 35 111,400 acres and of Indian lands 746,637 acres, making a total of 25,855,037 acres. Tols is an increase over the year 1896 of 3,733,474 acres and an increase of 4,802,521 over the year 1885. The receipts from disposals of public lands aggregate $10,783,022; from sates of Indian lands, $1,454 312, making a total of $12,268,224, being an increase, as compared with the year 1886, of $3,247,727, and an increase of $3,648,625 over the year 1885.

Engaged in a Laudable Work, Correspondence Pleasanton (Kan.) Observer The editor of the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN of this city is a paged in the very laudable work of getting the citizens of the United States interested in the establishment of an avenue from the Aqueduct bridge at Georgetown to M unt Vernon, and of making it the grandest national highway in the world. The proposed plan is for the states and territories of the Union to each improve a section of the roadway, by cuitivating trees, creeting statuary, and in such other ways as they may deem advisable, the choice to be given to the original thirteen states. It is also proposed that the avenue shall be 150 feet wide, twenty feet on each side to be used as parking. The distance when apportioned will give each state and territory about 400 yards, or nearly a quarter of a mile, to improve with trees, of native growth, creet a marble tablet with name of state or territory, and its coat of arms, and in the case of the original thirteen, the names of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Wishing the Movement Success, [Richmond Whig.]

A large meeting of citizens of Alexandria and Washington was held in the former city last veek to consider the subject and devise a plan for opening an avenue from Washington to Mount Vernon, to be called Mount Vernon avenue. It was determined to push the project, and a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions for money to defray the expenses of a preliminary survey. The requisite amount was obtained without difficulty. So we suppose the movement is now regularly inaugurated, and we trust it may be crowned with success. The distance, we balleve, is about fourteen miles, and if a good driving avenue were constructed it would soon become one of the most popular drives about the two cities.

During the interview "Senator Cockrell stated to the President that Mr. Young was one of the delegates who helped nominate him at Chicago. President Cleveland said: "Then you are one of the parties who helped get me into this snap?" "Yes." said Mr. Young, "and I propose to try and get you into another just like it," at which the President laughed very heartily. and succeeded in having the President in

FALL

It seems as if we must admit that the fall season has really opened. At least, the temperature has lost a good deal of its mustard seasoning. You will very speedily be compelled to lay aside the light straws, with their mull and gauzes and fancy flowers; for neat and tasteful as summer fashion was, cool weather calls for closer head covering and appropriate trimmings of a heavier texture.

We are positioned to show you what fashion has invented for the fall season of 1887.

Every day we are receiving shapes in straw and felt goods-novelties and accepted models of beauty in Hats and Bonnets. On Saturday we opened a line of superb feathers, tips, wings, &c., in numberless variety, high-priced, medium quality, and the moderate cost. All that the ribbon manufacturers have to offer that is new we have either received or are receiving daily; and in satins, glace velvets, and all the weightier textures our buyers have purchased with liberality and commendable judgment.

You are, therefore, invited to inspect our lines of millinery specialties. You may not be ready to order just yet, but we can show you new goods that will delight your eye and may possibly just strike your fancy.
